Child Health Centre Is Running Smoothly

Twelve Babies Now Enrolled in Centre Opened on January 15.

BOARD MEETS MONTHLY

As a result of local initiative together with material support and volunteer service, the Narberth Child Health Centre is well launched and running as smoothly as though it were years rather than four weeks old.

The Centre, which was formally opened in the community room of Elm Hall, on January 15, is open every Wednesday from 2 to 3 o'clock for children of pre-school age. At the Centre is a Baby Specialist and nurse, together with trained workers, who carry out the policies of other recognized Health Centres throughout the Main Line area.

On the opening day just two babies were presented; the number now enrolled is twelve. Should some Wednesday prove to be clear and warm that number is likely to be doubled. Of the twelve children enrolled six are under one year of age.

The Centre is maintained chiefly by means of an appropriation from Council, with assistance from the Main Line Branch of the Red Cross, while the Women's Community Club supply the many incidentals, and the volunteer workers. The management of the Centre is under the care of the Community Health and Civic Association of Ardmore.

The Narberth Board of Managers hold a meeting on the first Tuesday of each month at 7:15 P. M. The Board consists of a member from the Ardmore Centre and five members from Narberth, of which Dr. George A. Sloan is chairman.

During January Mrs. Harry C. Banks, Jr., and Mrs. Nelson C. Rowley served as volunteer aides. To help meet some "incidentals" the Welfare Committee of the club will give a card party on February 20 in the club room at 2 o'clock. This gives an opportunity to all women to help in keeping the well babies well.

A Real Valentine

The Essex Kandy Kounter, Narberth, was honored by a visit from a little girl Tuesday afternoon, who asked if she might buy a heart-shaped box filled with chocolates for fifty cents.

"Yes, indeed," she was told. "Filled with chocolates—for fifty cents?" she asked to make sure.

When her hopes were confirmed, and her box of candy was wrapped up, she paid for it—with fifty pennies.

"It's for mother," she confided. "I've been saving the money since Christmas."

Entertainment Planned For Trade Board Meeting

Special entertainment—a new departure in its meetings—is being planned for the meeting of the Narberth Board of Trade to be held Monday evening in Elm Hall. Music will be furnished by courtesy of Walter Case, of the Narberth Electric Shop, and it is expected Bill Lawrence, an old Dumont minstrel, who coached St. Margaret's minstrels in Narberth, will be present. Refreshments will be served.

Among topics to be discussed at the meeting, it is expected a community advertising campaign will be given consideration.

All Narberth business people are invited to attend the meeting.

To Give Musical Revue at Woman's Club of B.-C.

A concert in costume, depicting a tour by dirigible through nine countries, will be given at the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd by the Community Choral of Bala-Cynwyd on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Several soloists and dancers will participate in the performance, and dancing will follow in the auditorium at the close of the performances.

Mrs. J. E. Bacon, chairman of the choral, is assisted by the following committee: Mrs. R. Bruce Ramsey, Mrs. J. E. D. Graves, Mrs. William K. Miller, Mrs. Leigh P. Hoff, Mrs. Perce DeLong and Mrs. Charles S. Shinn.

Baseball Meeting Scheduled Wednesday.

Election of Officers and Other Business to Come Before Narberth Club.

ALL INTERESTED INVITED

Whether Narberth's baseball team will play independent ball again this season and who its manager and other officers will be will be decided at the club's annual business meeting, to be held 8 P. M. next Wednesday in the American Legion room of the Narberth Community Building.

Officers who may or may not be re-elected are Gene Davis, manager; Harry Hollar, assistant manager and business manager; E. C. Griswold, president; William Durbin, vice president; Charles Harnden, secretary-treasurer; Robert Compton, assistant treasurer, and William Newbourg, property man.

All members of the community interested in its ball team are invited to attend the meeting. (See editorial.)

Announcement was made this week that uniforms have just been ordered for the team, for the first time in four years. The suits—eighteen of them—are to be of the same material as that of the University of Pennsylvania nine. They are described as gray trimmed with blue, with solid blue stockings, and gray cap with blue peak.

Expect Capacity House at 'Spanish Moon' Night

A capacity house is expected when the curtain rises on "Spanish Moon," the peppy musical show which the Juniors of the Ardmore Woman's Club are presenting at Lower Merion Junior High School tonight and tomorrow night.

The show has been in preparation for three weeks past and apparently contains so many good things from the entertainment standpoint that it has occasioned more interest than anything of the kind for some time. Song numbers include "Heart Girls," "Hot Tomale," "Ladies of Lisbon," "The Toreadors," "The Matadors," "Spanish Maids," "Smiles," chorus, etc. Such local favorites as Mrs. Ralph Andrews, Miss Diana Pugh, Mrs. Albert Fey, Mrs. F. E. Maguire, Miss Mary Dold, Miss Ann Culbertson and Robert H. Maitland, Jack Speirs, Edward F. Burt, Thomas Stapleton and Harold Rees are included in the cast. There is an abundance of fancy dancing, gorgeous costumes, elaborate stage sets and brilliant lighting effects.

Receiving Congratulations

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Aiken, Jr. of Bala, are being congratulated upon the birth of a daughter, Constance Aiken, on the second of February. Mrs. Aiken will be remembered as Miss Constance Diamond, of Narberth.

Maroon Breaks Norristown Hoodoo, Winning Before 1200 Fans 55 to 35

Lower Merion High School walked off the floor last Friday night with the most satisfying victory of the season tucked away in the score book. Norristown High School was the vanquished opponent, and just how vanquished they were is a matter that any one of the twelve or fifteen hundred fans present can testify. The final tabulation of the scorekeeper read 55 for Lower Merion and 35 for the Blue and White of Norristown.

Babe Richards, a wee mite from the county seat, was the one-man team that Coach Fishburn brought along to tame the Maroon five with, and though the little fellow did his best by rolling up 21 points, it was not sufficient to compete with the five-man offensive of Coach Bill Anderson.

They do say that Jacob worked seven years to win Rachel for his wife

If our memory serves us aright, the Maroon five of Lower Merion has worked a like number of years to wed Lady Victory in a game with Norristown on the Junior High floor in Ardmore. But patience has at last been rewarded, and the manner in which they won last week was a delight to the thousand or more Main Line rooters.

The fact that Anderson's boys did the trick without the aid of Alfred Bonniwell, the highly-touted son of Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, is an indication of the true strength of the Maroon five. That Bonniwell would have strengthened the team in one or two departments is true, but it is doubtful if his presence in the lineup would have helped the team to a more complete victory.

Plea Made to Save the Hawks and Owls

Local Publisher Tells of Other
Wild Life in Serious Danger.

A plea for the preservation of hawks, owls and other persecuted forms of wild life was made Tuesday at the meeting of the Women's Community Club of Narberth. The speaker was Philip A. Livingston, publisher of the Main Line's three news-magazines, and an active naturalist.

The program was under direction of the Conservation Committee, of which his mother, Mrs. Mary M. Livingston, is chairman. "To attempt a speech on the broad subject of conservation would be akin to trying to deliver a talk on the history of the world in fifteen minutes," the speaker said.

Modern interest in conservation, he said, is largely due to the efforts of Theodore Roosevelt. Government de-

Criminal of Today Youth, Chaplain Says

Rev. Linn Bowman, Chaplain of Eastern Penitentiary, Is Rotary Speaker.

A picture of the type of criminal encountered in prisons of today was given Monday night by the Rev. Linn Bowman, chaplain of the Eastern Penitentiary. The talk was part of the program of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club.

The modern criminal, Dr. Bowman pointed out, is a young man. Forty years ago the average age of the convict was 46. Today the average of the 700,000 men in State prisons is but 26. In the Eastern Penitentiary 500 of the 2300 inmates are under 22; 250 under 21. A boy of 15 was recently committed for life.

The modern criminal is uneducated, Dr. Bowman said, but in very few cases is there actual mental deficiency.

Buy a ton of coal today. Use this, and buy another. Are the two tons alike? Not unless they come from the same mine and are prepared according to the same standard. They may vary in freeness of burning, sizing, cleanliness, ash content and in many other ways.

Jeddo-Highland has always come from mines in a small, restricted area. Its producers have always prepared Jeddo-Highland by the most modern and thorough processes known.

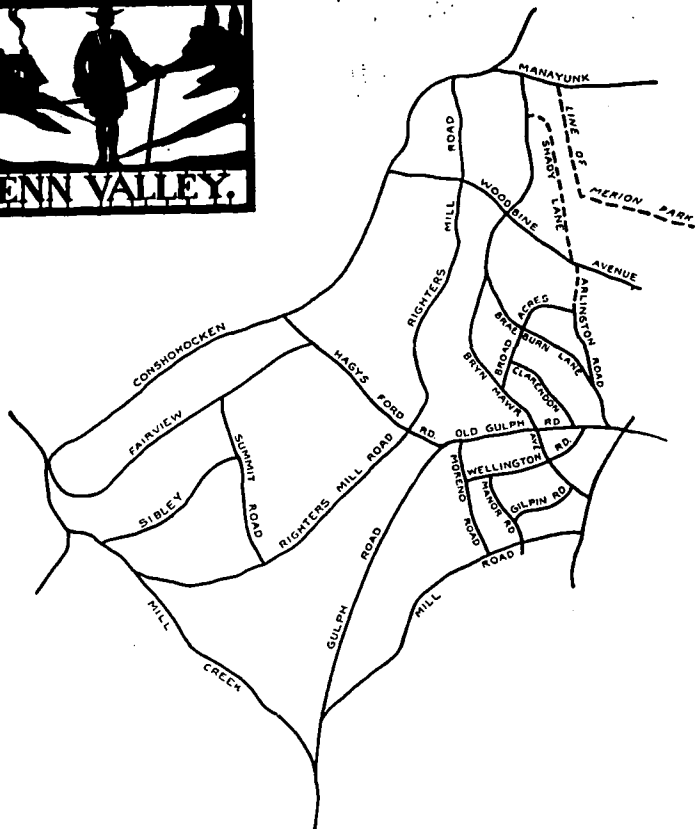

Order Jeddo-Highland by name today—next month—ten years from now—you know that you can expect coal of unvarying high standard in each ton you receive.

FORE AND AFT

The Stratford-upon-Avon Festival Company
"Hot Chocolates," "Dracula"

The Stratford-upon-Avon Festival Company from the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre at Stratford, which played a brilliantly successful season in America last year, will appear at the Broad Street Theatre for two weeks beginning Monday night, March 10, in a series of Shakespearean plays. During the spring and summer festivals at Stratford-upon-Avon the company added five plays to its repertory and these new productions are regarded as among the most notable achievements of the organization during the half-century of its existence.

The list of plays acted at Stratford last summer and which constitutes the repertory for the present tour will be presented here in the following sequence: First week: Monday, "Much Ado About Nothing"; Tuesday, "Romeo and Juliet"; Wednesday matinee, "Julius Caesar"; Wednesday evening, "The Merry Wives of Windsor"; Thursday, "Hamlet"; Friday, "Twelfth Night"; Saturday matinee, "A Midsummer Night's Dream"; Saturday evening, "Macbeth." Second week: Monday, "The Merry Wives of Windsor"; Tuesday, "Hamlet"; Wednesday matinee, "Twelfth Night"; Wednesday evening, "A Midsummer Night's Dream"; Thursday, "King Richard, II"; Friday, "Much Ado About Nothing"; Saturday matinee, "Romeo and Juliet"; Saturday evening, "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

As was the case last year, whatever profits may accrue from the tour will go to the fund for rebuilding and endowing the new Memorial Theatre at Stratford, the foundation stone of which was laid last July.

The company is under the direct management of the Board of Governors of the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, of which institution His Majesty the King is the patron. The Shakespeare Memorial operates under Royal Charter and is the only endowed theatre in England. The director of the company is W. Bridges Adams, who, for the past ten years, has had full charge, artistically, of the productions at Stratford. In interpreting and revealing the plays Mr. Adams presents as nearly as possible the full text, with the scenes in their proper sequence, and by emphasizing the human note he follows what was undoubtedly the method employed by Shakespeare himself. Performed in this straightforward manner, and mounted in a rich, brilliant fashion, the plays are intensely interesting and enjoyable to modern audiences. The company is composed of the most competent Shakespearean actors of the contemporaneous British stage.

Connie's "Hot Chocolates," aptly described by its producers as a sepia revue and by reviewers as a sizzling hot combination of singers, dancers, jazz kings and queens and comics, opened its engagement of three weeks at the Garrick Theatre on Monday night. The entire New York cast, which held sway at the Hudson Theatre for more than six months, will be seen here. More than one hundred are in the company.

That melodramatic thriller, "Dracula," comes to the Broad Street Theatre for a two weeks' engagement beginning Monday, February 10, matinees to be given on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

"Dracula" is one of the more adroitly constructed of mystery plays of recent vintage. A large section of the theategoing public certainly love to have its feelings hurried by stage representations of the supernatural that excites, thrills and raises the gooseflesh. It was Mr. Stoker's fanciful idea that the cruel Count Dracula, dead and buried for 500 years, should return nightly to earth and resume his evil activities. He has the attributes of a vampire—though he is attractive enough in person—and seeks his victims among young women.

Congratulations

Serving a hearty dinner to three hundred and eighty-four people is no small accomplishment, but this is what the women did who were in charge of that part of the benefit for the Narberth Fire Company last week. Mrs. Edward S. Haws and her aides deserve great credit for the smooth manner in which this part of the program ran off.

All of the women who were connected with this benefit will doubtless receive hearty thanks from the Narberth Fire Company, but they also deserve a vote of appreciation from the community at large. The Fire Company exists to protect life and property of the community, and by helping it to be more efficient and better equipped the citizens of the borough are really looking after their own interests.

While the sum raised by the benefit has not yet been divulged, it is rumored that it will go a considerable way towards defraying the $2500 outstanding on a piece of the company's apparatus.

We again congratulate Mrs. Mueller, the general chairman of the benefit, and each of her workers on the success attained, the spirit in which the idea was conceived and the vigor with which it was pursued.

Fame For Narberth

Before the robins and violets comes the call of baseball. Cornelius McG. Mack and his white-clad Athletics have already commenced preparation for another championship season. Villanova and other institutions have announced their schedules for the season.

Narberth's ball club brings diamond plans nearer home, with its meeting scheduled to be held next Wednesday night at the Community Building. Officers will be elected, policy discussed and, incidentally, a report made on the nice new uniforms that will grace the borough's ball warriors this season.

And the public is invited to attend the meeting, or otherwise interest itself in the club's plan this year. Why? Because the club will provide entertainment for the boroughs populace? Yes, but more than that.

Last year the achievements of Narberth's championship ball team brought the town more newspaper publicity than two murders, three suicides and a couple dozen motor crashes . . . which is as it should be . . . and which means that every resident and business person here—who indirectly gains from good, wholesome publicity such as that gained by a good ball team will find it very much worth while to show interest in the ball club.

Boy Scout Week

Beginning today the Boy Scouts of America will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the organization in the United States. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the character-building effects of the leadership of men who love boys and of the comradeship established among the scouts. A nation joins in wishing the scouts continued success and particularly along the Main Line, where our scout executives are men of outstanding ability in varied lines, but who take time to instill the best principles of citizenship into a coming generation, are the benefits of scout work noteworthy.

Scout Week is an appropriate American occasion for it is these boys who carry on our pioneer life in the camp, the forest, and, in an allied branch, the sea. But scouting is equally significant and of tremendous importance in its international aspects. Far from being a military organization, which some of its critics have termed it, the Boy Scouts, founded by Sir Robert Baden-Powell in England and now found in nearly every civilized country, present one of the greatest influences for peace.

At least two generations of men in America have graduated from this school of outdoor life, wholesome recreation and training in civic service. It has proved to be immensely good instruction.

A Kansas City woman says she was drunk when she was married three weeks ago, and asks a divorce. How come, when this is a dry country?

UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

Caught.

About three weeks ago a list of some fifty-four rather unusual words was printed in this column. Some comment was heard about the difficulty the average person would have in defining them without the aid of a dictionary.

At the time of their publication the offer was made of a luncheon to any reader who could define ten of them without consulting a lexicon. The Uncle was caught. A neighboring man of the cloth has thrown down his score of thirteen definitions. He is hereby entitled to the luncheon and will receive it in a short time.

Below is the correspondence pertaining to this matter:

My Dear Uncle Cy:

Thanks for the luncheon!

I read over your list and drawing a pad toward me, wrote down twenty-five of your words. After each I wrote my definition. Then I consulted a dictionary!

Twelve words survived! Would you be more interested in the ineffective armor of those who perished? They resembled nothing quite so much as—Damned Neuters, in their middle way of steering

. . . neither Fish, nor Flesh, nor good Red Herring.

The twelve Crusoes were: Autolaty, capillarity, conglutination, educe, gravamen, inhumne, neap, quinary, solipism, theophany, throve, voluted. (And I guessed at "Juxtabasal," though I could not find it in my abridged dictionary, as "with the bases joined." Does that make thirteen, or am I unlucky without it?)

And in passing—we might have our luncheon where we occasionally meet. Of course I should prefer the Traymore at Atlantic City or the Ritz at New York.

Sincerely,

ROBERT E. KEIGHTON.

Somewhere Nearby,

January 29, 1930.

My dear Mr. Keighton:

You win the luncheon and pass forever into the class of pedants in spite of your erudition.

The list seems to have interested many people but no one else has had the audacity to present himself as such an authority on obscure words.

In your profession, as in the publishing business which has brought us together, the use of words is a matter of great importance. Noah Webster was very particular in private life as well as in his well-known volumes, about his choice of words. I remember hearing his descendant, Henry Kitchell Webster, tell this story about him

It seems that Mrs. Noah Webster came home unexpectedly one day to find her lexicographer husband kissing the nursemaid. "Noah," she cried, "I am surprised!"

"No, my dear," he replied, "It is I who am surprised; you are astonished."

Like other learned persons hereabouts, you are somewhat confused as to my identity. I am sorry, sir, that I have not yet had the pleasure of meeting you and have only seen you on one occasion.

May I defer the date of our luncheon for a week or two and let you hear from me again with some specific place and time mentioned?

Cordially yours,

UNCLE CY.

Au Revoir Yourself.

Many months ago, almost two and a half years ago to be exact, the editor of the Main Liner asked me to turn out a column for the paper. At that time he was an advertising man and became an editor later. Last week he sprung the surprise that bigger and better business had called him to the city, which I believe he dislikes as much as I do. He asked me if I would continue to conduct the column, and I assured him that if he became editor of the Saturday Evening Post, nothing could induce me to leave the Main Liner, Our Town, and the News.

However, he got me into this, and now's he's leaving me stranded. It's up to the readers, if such there be, to give me all the back-patting I've grown to expect in the editorial office.

Lower Merion Boosts Winning Streak to Thirteen Straight

"Time Out"

By Tommy Macklin.

About the prettiest piece of individual work in the Norristown game Friday night was contributed by one of Coach Anderson's minute men, Hughie Wynn by name. His last-minute field goal was a classic and if he can do that sort of thing regularly, his lack of height will not hinder him very much.

Friends' Central still shares the lead with Germantown Academy in the Inter-academic League. Both teams have won three games without a reverse.

Lower Merion leads the Suburban League A section with 5 wins and 0 losses, followed by Norristown with 4 and 1, and Upper Darby with 2 and 2.

The Chamber of Commerce should send a vote of thanks to Coach Bill Anderson's basketball team for keeping Ardmore and Lower Merion on the map after Captain Perk Scott and Tip Peters put them there.

There's nothing like a winning team to advertise a place. All the sports writers are now following the local five, each saying "I saw them first."

Babe Richards was uncanny in his one-handed stabs at the basket Friday night. He tried the same stuff against Bethlehem on his home floor last week, and with a poorer guard than Mandes on him he didn't drop even a small percentage of them. If one of Anderson's boys tried that kind of shooting, it's dollars to pennies he would be benched.

And rightly so, brother. It's teamwork that wins in the long run and some short ones. The baby that shoots that way, may boost his own percentage, but the team suffers. Not discounting Richards' ability or sportsmanship. He's a great lad and the boys admire him.

The Maroon continued her winning streak to thirteen straight Tuesday. No jinx in that one, though the boys had a difficult time on La Salle's trick floor.

Al Bonniwell broke into the lineup in D'Amora's place and then switched to center to replace Turner for a while. He dropped in three double deckers and played his usual smooth floor game. The fans should turn out in good numbers at the Radnor fuss on the night of the twenty-fifth to see this boy loop 'em in.

If we could choose five boys for our basketball team, we would want Pennypacker and Lockwood for forwards, Turner for center and Mandes and D'Amora for guards, with Bonniwell to play any position as the occasion required, and Hughie Wynn, Henry Gane and Keith Parks to sub. What a team!

Then if anything happened, we would just take Anderson's second string squad and put them into the lineup. Those boys won their fifteenth consecutive victory Tuesday afternoon by holding LaSalle Reserve to 3 points for 32 minutes' play.

The Junior High five has won five straight in the Junior Suburban League and show promise of winning the championship.

It is quite probable that Anderson will not send his boys into the Pennsylvania tournament this year, but will save them for the State championships at Penn State College later in the month.

Lebanon Valley sent a shiver down the spines of Villanova rooters last Saturday night by handing them the worst defeat they have suffered on the basketball court in three years. The score was 45 to 27.

The first division of the Interacademic standings show three Main Line institutions represented. With Friend's Central leading the pack, Episcopal and Haverford are in third and fourth places respectively. Montgomery School, with too much inexperienced material, has not won a league game thus far.

On Trail of League Title

The Lower Merion Basketball Squad, who have achieved the remarkable record of thirteen straight victories, are undefeated this season and sit on the top of the Suburban League. Reading from left to right: Coach William Anderson, Hugh Wynn, John Pennypacker, Keith Parks, Henry Gane, Alfred Mandes (Capt.), Alfred D'Amora, Warren Lockwood, (Capt.), Alfred Bonniwell and James Turner.

St. Margaret's Basketball Team Is Meeting Many of the Best Teams in Philadelphia Area

(By G. B. M.)

The St. Margaret's Church basketball team lost a hard-fought game on Monday night to Malvern Prep by the close score of 25-31. The better physical condition of the Malvern boys decided the game in their favor, the local quintet tiring quickly after amassing a 17-11 lead at the end of the first half. Not a little credit for Malvern's victory should go to J. Bradley, who accounted for no less than 23 of his team's 31 points.

On Wednesday the church five was scheduled to meet the Penn Freshmen, at the Palestra, in a preliminary game to the league contest of the Penn Varsity. As this paper went to press little opposition was expected from the college five.

This evening, Friday, the St. Margaret's quintet plays the strong St. Mary Magdeline Club from South Philadelphia—the team that defeated the borough boys on their floor two weeks ago by the score of 27-24. Tonight, the Narberth five promise a different story, for they believe they will have little difficulty defeating the South Philadelphia boys on the local floor—at the Narberth School.

An added attraction will be the presence of Coach Eddie McNichol from Penn, who has promised to aid the locals by refereeing the game.

Another interesting game is in store for those who wish to see it—on Tuesday evening next, when the St. Margaret's team meets a group of Villanova College stars. Among those who will be in the college line-up will be Johnny Gillespie, Tom Morgan, Jack Denavan and "Hicky" Highfield.

No admission is charged to see these games. Everyone who likes to see a good, fast, clean game of basketball is cordially invited to come up to the Narberth School both on Friday evening and Tuesday evening.

The team is composed of a small group of boys from the local church and has been in existence four years. This year a decided increase in interest was shown by the fellows. New suits were bought by the players themselves, and the church, through the co-operation of Fathers Hayes and Walsh, purchased new jackets, so that in addition to presenting a good game of basketball to the spectators, the team also makes a very attractive and snappy appearance.

Matt Calahan jumps centre for the varsity team, while George Torchiana and Peter Eidenberg take care of the guard posts. George Burgess and George Maguire are the forwards, while James McKelvey, Jack O'Keefe and Bob Torchiana, along with Bill McNichol, are the substitutes who see action in every game. Edward Burgess is the handy man, who besides keeping score and time, often referees when necessary.

The team is managed and coached by Tom Horan, who has had basketball experience at St. Thomas in Maryland.

Maroon Five Makes It Thirteen in Row

La Salle Prep Is 33 to 21 Victim of Lower Merion on Tuesday.

Lower Merion followed up their sensational victory over Norristown High School by continuing in their winning stride Tuesday afternoon at LaSalle Prep with a 33-to-21 score.

The second team also stretched their winning streak another game and are now two ahead of the varsity with 15 in a row.

The Maroon's thirteenth victory was not so clean-cut as some of the others, but the boys were playing under floor conditions that made it difficult for them to play their usual game. They showed their real class, however, by maintaining a sufficient lead at all stages of the game to coast in to a victory.

John Hennipacker led the scoring list for Lower Merion with 12 points, and, strange to say, those twelve points were scored before another member of the team broke into the scoring column.

Bonniwell went into the lineup and alternated at guard and center.

Lower Merion Breaks Norristown Hoodoo

Anderson had his high scoring ace in uniform, and if the need had arisen would have sent him into the game to insure victory, but there was no necessity. His idea was to win the game on the floor, and let Norristown win it by a protest if they so desired.

Warren Lockwood, John Pennypacker and Jimmy Turner were the three boys who did most of the scoring for the Maroon. Captain Mandes got off to a bad start with his defensive ability somewhat disturbed by Richards' sensational shooting. After he shifted over to cover Kirts, he played his usual stellar game. Al D'Amora played a good game on defense and helped considerably by looping in three double-deckers.

Anderson finished up the game by rubbing a little salt in the wound. He sent in four substitutes who held the visitors scoreless for the last two minutes and Hughie Wynn topped off the evening with a beautiful field goal as the gong rang.

Villanova's President Predicts Advent of "Radio Colleges," Next Step in Educational Life, in 5 Years

The next step in American educational life will be "radio colleges" within five years, according to Rev. Dr. James H. Griffin, president of Villanova College, who is making a study of the efficacy of educational broadcasts.

Dr. Griffin is now seeking information on this subject from Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, who is also keenly interested in the progress of adult education by radio.

"Listeners no longer dial away from every radio talk," said Dr. Griffin. "They have learned that special broadcasts, such as the one from the American Philosophical Society in which Dr. Elihu Thomson, the famous inventor, and Dr. Harlow Shapley, Harvard astronomer, took part, are entertaining as well as informative."

"Broadcasting is entering a new cycle. It has passed the novelty stage, and it is placing behind it the days when listeners demanded only entertainment."

The Villanova president does not regard education over the air as a competitor of the college, but as an adjunct. He believes broadcasts may help solve the problems of continuing the training of the graduate after he leaves college.

"The success of educational broadcasting depends upon making the program interesting to the last minute, through dramatization," said Dr. Griffin. "The person before the microphone must realize he cannot depend upon his appearance and gestures to hold the attention of the listeners."

Dr. Griffin believes that educational broadcasts derive their strength from the fact that the listeners are in a receptive mood. Hence the lecturer does not have to overcome mental indifference or resistance in the student.

Ardmore Banks to Limit Evening Hours

Three Banks Announce Adoption of Former Three o'Clock Schedule.

OPEN FRIDAY EVENINGS

After a survey made by the Ardmore Title and Trust Company and the Merion Title and Trust Company indicating that only a small number of depositors availed themselves of the facilities of evening banking hours, those two institutions and the Counties Title and Trust Company have announced that all Ardmore Banks will adopt a uniform business day. Thus banking in Ardmore will commence at 8 o'clock in the morning and close at 3 in the afternoon except on Fridays, when all banks will be open from 7 to 9 in the evening. The Saturday hours will be from 8 A. M. till noon.

Provisions will be made for business and other depositors to make evening deposits. The Safe Deposit departments will be open until 4 P. M. every day and during the evening hours on Fridays. On Saturdays they will coincide with other banking hours.

This uniform schedule will be put into effect on the 17th of February.

Model Aeroplane Club Organized By Main Line Y

A model aeroplane club for boys from twelve to twenty-one years of age has just been organized by the Main Line Christian Association in Ardmore. The club, which meets regularly on Wednesday at 3:30 P. M., is sponsored by the Playgrounds' Association of Philadelphia and the Aero Club of Pennsylvania.

The boys begin with the most elementary principles of aviation and gradually develop a further knowledge of this interesting and important subject. Several sessions have already been held and a large enrollment is anticipated. There will be a free demonstration conducted by Victor R. Fretz, Director of the Philadelphia Model Aeroplane Association, on Friday, February 14, at 7 P. M. at the Y. M. C. A., 116 West Lancaster Avenue. Every boy is invited to attend this free demonstration but need not wait to join the club until that time. Applications for membership may be made at once.

Once a month competitive tests are held in Philadelphia between the numerous clubs already organized. Prizes are awarded to the winners of the monthly events. Necessary materials are sold at cost to the members of the club. Awards are given to those who complete the prescribed work. A grease monkey button is the first award, the next award is for those designated as pilots and the third award is given to those who will be known as aces. The members of the club are obliged to cut their own materials to the required specifications and assemble them under the supervision of a leader.

B. M. Hospital Faces $100,000 Deficit in 1930

Cost of Operation Increased $350 a Day By New Demands On Institution

Bryn Mawr Hospital does not enjoy the enviable financial position that many residents of the community are led to believe it does. It is common gossip that Bryn Mawr Hospital should not have to ask for donations or have drives for the purpose of raising funds. This is not true, however, for it is estimated that at the end of 1930 the hospital will have to meet a deficit for the year of between $80,000 and $100,000.

The budget for 1930 amounts to more than $500,000, or approximately $1450 per day. During the past year the daily cost amounted to $1100, which included only six months in the new building.

The item of food amounted to approximately $10,000 during December, and this is only one of more than 4000 items listed in the inventory of the hospital, although it is about the most important.

The following figures will be of great interest to every one, but especially to housewives, who think their food bills are so large and that their families have such hearty appetites. They show the amount of food used during the month of December:

One thousand eight hundred and twenty-six loaves of bread, 8640 rolls, 5400 quarts of milk, 217 quarts of cream, 257 quarts of ice cream, 493 pounds of fish, 972 oysters and clams, 15,360 eggs, 1460 pounds of butter, 5372 pounds of meat, 1853 pounds of poultry, 9100 pounds of potatoes, 6080 oranges.

Four thousand articles are used in the running of a hospital, ranging from the finest surgical instruments to power house equipment.

Legitimate complaints and criticisms are always welcomed by the hospital authorities, for it is only by means of them that errors can be rectified.

Main Line Girl Scouts Receive High Awards

Two Girl Scouts from the Main Line, Scout Rose Lee Tally, of Wayne, and Lieut. Cecilia Candee, of the Merion Troop, were among the six who were awarded their Golden Eaglet badges with impressive ceremonies at the midwinter Court of Awards which was held last Saturday afternoon by the Philadelphia and Main Line Scouts at the William Penn High School in Philadelphia. Scouts from each troop in Philadelphia's eight districts, of which the Main Line is the eighth district, joyously marched to the high school for their merit badges, and to be made First Class and Golden Eaglet Scouts, and filled the auditorium to overflowing.

An impressive flag ceremony opened the event, with each troop's American flag carried by one honored member. Much bugling and drumming and Scout songs were also features of the gala event.

Mrs. Frederick Edey, chairman of the National Field Committee, awarded the Golden Eaglet badges, after a heart-to-heart talk to the girls on what it means to be a Golden Eaglet, its duties, its joys and privileges.

Scouts Plan Big Rally and Other Activities During Present Month

A Main Line District Rally is to be held in February to consist first, of a district inspection to be reviewed by the Scout Executive, E. A. Carlson, and the Scout Commissioner, Isaac C. Sutton. The inspection will be followed by Scout and camp songs and a fair sprinkling of scouting games. There will also be inter-troop contests for individual district championships in knot-tying, signaling (semaphore and Morse code), first aid fire by friction, and fire by flint and steel. Two teams will be allowed to each troop participating. The winners of each event will be known as district champions and will receive medals to that effect. The champions may be challenged whenever there are two teams representing two troops to issue the challenge, and if the champion loses the contest he must pass his medal on to the winner.

The rally was agreed upon at a meeting of the activities committee of the Main Line district of the Boy Scouts of America, held at Ardmore, N. M. C. A., presided over by the chairman, A. C. Conners, Scoutmaster of Ardmore Troop No. 1. The following members were present: Mr. Russell Moll, assistant scout executive; Mr. Nelson Wilbur, scoutmaster of Bryn Mawr Troop No. 1, and Mr. John C. Foster, Scoutmaster of Wynnewood Troop No. 1 and field executive of the Main Line District.

It was further passed that there should be a variety of both indoor and outdoor activities such as district treasure hunts, district war games, lectures and pictures, etc.

The Main Line district will take part in the council activity to be held at Valley Forge on February 22 and to take the form of the annual Washington Pilgrimage.

The Court of Honor will be called by William K. Holman, chairman of Main Line district court, for Friday, February 14, at which time all merit badges will be reviewed and awards of the district advancement be presented. John C. Foster, field executive of the Main Line, announces.

Plea Made to Save the Hawks and Owls

partments, universities and museums are all actively studying the economic phases of the problem. The sentimental and recreational side formed the subject of Tuesday's talk.

Bird life, Mr. Livingston said, may be grouped under three headings: Song birds, which everyone agrees should be protected; game birds, which some people feel should be protected, and the "Pariahs and Outcasts"—the hawks and owls, who seem to have far too few friends.

Nearly all of the hawks, owls and eagles, the speaker pointed out, are either innocent or really valuable. A few of the many species are bad, and as a result all hawks are "chicken hawks" to the farmer, and every man's hand is turned against these beautiful and fearless birds.

Especially mention was made of the Duck Hawk, similar to the famed Peregrine Falcon of Europe, and a bird of rare beauty, bravery and flying skill. A few nest each year on the high cliffs of the upper Delaware, but their numbers are steadily diminishing, due to the depredations of egg collectors and winter hunters.

Efforts have recently been made, Mr. Livingston said, to kill one of these birds living for the winter on one of the high office buildings, and preying on the starlings and pigeons which live in the city. "One duck hawk is worth a hundred pigeons in beauty and interest," he said, "and remember, you can grow plenty more pigeons!"

The speaker took his audience to the hills and marshes, and gave brief word pictures of some of the more interesting hawks and owls in their native haunts. He told of the advantages of protection, and how the bird life had responded.

In many cases, he pointed out, it is too late, and a number of interesting forms are gone forever. The brighter side was shown in the case of the herons and terns, whose numbers increased rapidly when laws were passed prohibiting the slaughter of wild birds for millinery purposes.

A parallel was drawn in the case of fur-bearing animals. "With the increasing value of furs," Mr. Livingston said, "trappers are going farther and farther into the wilds, and a number of these wild creatures are approaching extermination. Fur coats and ornaments must be restricted to kinds which can be grown in captivity, or in protected farms. It is foolish to excuse further slaughter by the fact that these rare furs are a necessity. In a very few years there will be no more. Why not stop now while there are a few of the animals left to make our trips to the woods enjoyable?"

The speaker described the tortures of wild animals caught in traps and left to starve and die of thirst. His final plea was for conservation of the forests, the animals, the wild flowers and birds for the sake of future generations as well as those of the present day who look forward to trips to the woods.

"Remember," he said, "that for every conservation society there are ten hunting clubs, and for every article published in favor of the birds there are ten so-called sportsmen's magazines, supported by the powder companies and preaching the doctrine of killing. Every effort must be made to counteract the propaganda of killing if we are to have any of the larger wild life left."

Knell Rung For Tea Room and Sanitarium

Appeals to Board of Adjustment Refused After Public Hearing.

MANY RESIDENTS APPEAR

Application of Wynnewood Lodge, Inc., backed by a group of doctors, to conduct a sanitarium or convalescent home on the property located at Hagysford and Old Gulph Roads Wynnewood, was refused by the Board of Adjustment of Zoning of Lower Merion Township at a public meeting held on Thursday night at the Township Building, Ardmore.

Over fifty property owners and residents of the section packed the room and applauded loudly when the chairman of the Board, John Lewis Evans told one of the doctors on the stand that they must "show this Board why you should locate your sanitarium in the center of the most exclusive residential section of the United States."

The Wynnewood property owners who were unanimous in their objections, were represented by Pierce Archer, Jr., Philadelphia attorney. Protests also were registered by the Rev. Gibson Bell, headmaster of the Montgomery School; George E. Bartol, Jr. and many others.

Application of Edwin A. Fitts, of Linwood Avenue, owner of the property at 110 Argyle Road, to continue the operation of the Chimney Corner Tea Room, was also turned down. Mr. Fitts was represented by Benjamin H. Ludlow, of Glenn Road, Ardmore, and the property owners who filed a petition in objection to the tea room, by Munroe Anders, of Simpson and Argyle Roads, whose law offices are in Norristown. The tea room is in a residential zone. While in itself not especially objectionable to residents of the section, their opinion was that it would prove an entering wedge for business in the neighborhood.

The third application to the Board likewise refused, was by Howard Longstreth, of Bryn Mawr, in objection of the removal of the frame building, used for the baling of waste paper, on his property on the north side of Gulph Road, east of Black Rock Road. The property has been used as a dump for some time and complaints have been made by neighbors of the almost continual fires and smudge arising therefrom. The baling and sale of paper on the property was adjudged a business enterprise by the Board, and since the property is located in a business district, in violation of the zoning ordinance.

Many Participate in Sports at Y. M. C. A.

Activities are in full swing at the Main Line Branch of the Y. M. C. A., 116 West Lancaster Avenue, Ardmore. Tuesdays and Fridays are devoted to work for women and girls. Beginning at 10 o'clock there is a period in the gymnasium with courses in calisthenics, volley ball, etc., until 11 o'clock, after which all participating in the gymnastics enjoy themselves for an hour in the swimming pool. At 3:30 there is a class for girls. Various types of work are given here, including games of all sorts and a half hour of dancing. In the evening from 7 to 9 o'clock older girls and women meet for all-around athletics, games and sports while others are enjoying a plunge in the pool.

Four days are devoted to activities for men and boys; that is, Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. A popular boys' class is held on Monday and Thursday afternoons at 3:30 o'clock, composed mostly of boys of grammar school age. Wednesday at 5:15 the men meet in a friendly game of volley ball and in the evening at 7:30 another group indulges in the same pastime and also basketball and other sports. Thursdays at 8 o'clock there is another class for men, and Saturdays at noon business men meet for volley ball.

Basketball is of course the most popular sport and large numbers are engaged in this pastime. The association has several teams enrolled in the Philadelphia Metropolitan League and also in the Main Line Church Basketball League for Juniors and Seniors.

Swimming in the Y. M. C. A. is popular all the year-round. The water is heated to a uniform temperature of about eighty degrees. Lessons are given to beginners and those who already know how to swim are taught the more advanced strokes, diving, life-saving, etc. The Main Line High School Swimming Leagues for boys and girls have been practicing for some time in preparation for the dual meets. Several meets have already been held by the boys and the girls will begin their meets in March.

It is planned to organize a class in dancing in the near future. Arrangements are being made to engage a competent instructor of large experience who will take care of this work. In the beginning social dancing will be taught but if there is enough demand for it classes in other forms of dancing, such as clogging, eccentric line work, etc., will be organized.

Criminal of Today Is Youth, Chaplain Says

The average education is less than fourth-grade value, and the young men are found to be poorly trained for life's economic battle.

Discarding almost entirely the conventional theories of heredity and environment as the causes of crime, the speaker pointed to the more general environment factors of modern economic standards. Boys unable to "make the grade" in earnings turn to crime.

Modern high-pressure advertising was cited as a factor. A demand is created for an expensive product, which the youth feels he must have in order to compete with others of his age. Uneducated and untrained, he is unable to earn the necessary amount of money honestly, and turns to the apparently easy-money method of "sticking up" gasoline stations and pedestrians.

Lack of thrift training was cited as another factor in the increase of crime. "The youth of today is economically untrained," Dr. Bowman said. "I regard thrift societies as almost akin to religion in the training of youth. The rock and rib of society is made up of men taught thrift in their youth. If I can get a criminal to save but 50c a week, he heads away from jail."

Crime comes seldom from industrial communities (excepting crimes of violence), because the factory worker is trained to a uniform thrift habit. It is when the son of the factory man leaves the community and yearns for the white-collar job for which he is not trained, that the danger arises.

Dr. Bowman, whose talk was followed by a battery of questions lasting more than an hour, was introduced by the Rev. Frank M. Gray. His talk was regarded as one of the most interesting and informative the club has heard.

A feature of the dinner was a "broadcast" arranged by Walter G. Case, Narberth electrical man. Through the speaker of a Victor Radio set in the room came songs and specialties interspersed with station announcements. It was discovered that the "broadcast" was by means of phonograph records in an adjoining room, so cleverly hooked up that most of the diners were deceived.

Letters to Editor

Praises Muschamp Book

To the Editor of "Our Town":

Dear Sir:

Ever since my boyhood days I have been a persistent reader of biography, preferring it to all other forms of literature. Within the past year I have read more than a half dozen high-class works in that field. Knowing my trenchant for this particular kind of reading, Santa Claus dropped into my stocking a copy of "Audacious Audubon." I have read it from cover to cover and am prepared to rank it with the best biographical studies I have ever found.

Audubon was one of the most interesting and courageous characters that America has yet produced. Mr. Muschamp has written a volume which is in every respect worthy both of the subject and the author. The news paper and magazine reviews of it have been very laudatory, but none of them above what it has deserved.

Much of the life of Audubon is stranger, indeed, than fiction. Parents who place this book in their libraries will find their children taking keen delight in it and gaining healthful inspiration from it.

I am very proud to know that a Narberth citizen has been able to tell our generation the fascinating story of the world's most famous ornithologist and to tell it in such a way that the product of his pen will undoubtedly find permanent place among the best biographies of the ages.

Why Sidewalks

To the Editor of Our Town:

Dear Sir:

As one of the many who, from choice or necessity, daily use the sidewalks of the Borough and Merion, may I ask why do we have them? And of what use have they been during the past three weeks when covered with snow and ice? The utter disregard for the condition of the sidewalks by many property owners seems to the writer the worst he has ever seen. And he has lived in many villages, towns and cities where heavy snow falls occur.

But why should the cleaning of sidewalks depend on the property owners? If the local authorities clean the roadways, why not the walks? Then a sidewalk would be clean its entire length and not hit and miss as at present.

Even worse than a snow-covered walk is one that holds the rain water in pools, and there are many such in this community. If a sidewalk is worth having in the first place, should it not be properly constructed and kept in repair to shed water, and be kept clear of snow and ice by the street department?

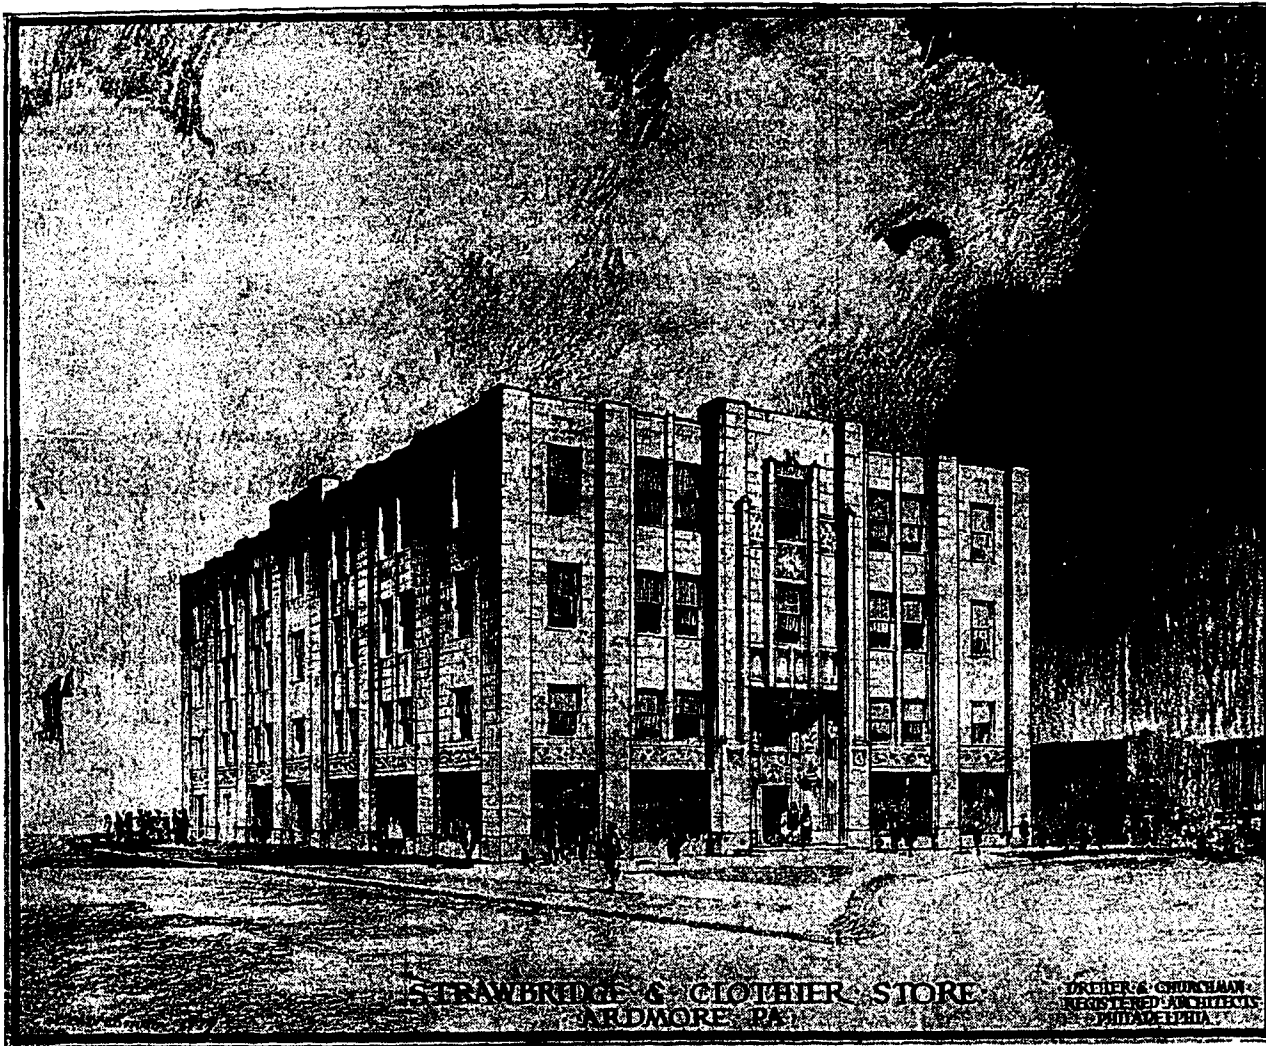

A NARBERTH RESIDENT.

Fred Fletcher Patten, former Narberth violinist, who is well known for his solos with the Main Line Orchestra, spent the week-end at his home in Narberth, on leave from the Valley Forge Military Academy where he holds the highest scholastic record. As senior captain, in command of Troop C, Fred finds the work most interesting.

Haverford College Receives Gift of $150,000 For Art Museum; Announced at Annual Dinner

Announcement of a gift of $150,000 for the establishment of an art museum on the campus was made at the annual midwinter dinner of the Haverford College Alumni Association at the Bellevue-Stratford on Saturday night.

The donor, Charles Wharton Stork, is a Philadelphia poet and dramatist, and Haverford alumnus. He resides in Chestnut Hill.

Mr. Stokes, a member of the Board of Managers, who announced the gift, said that no definite plan for the construction, the location or the precise contents of the building has been made as yet, but that a committee of which he is chairman is considering the details at the present time. The other members of the committee are Parker S. Williams, Arthur Thomas and Morris E. Leeds, all members of the Board of Managers.

"No attempt will be made to specialize in the selection of the art to be collected in the museum," Mr. Stokes said later, "but I think it likely that we will concentrate on the paintings of American artists."

In the course of the dinner at which the gift was announced, two members of the alumni body entered into a debate upon the question as to whether or not non-Friends should be admitted to membership on the Board of Managers of Haverford College.

Henry S. Drinker, Jr., in taking the affirmative issue, pointed out that two out of three members of the Alumni body are non-Friends, whereas five out of six of the present undergraduate body are non-Friends. He urged upon his fellow alumni the thesis that the college thus is being governed by a group representing but a minority of graduate and undergraduate opinion.

Francis R. Taylor, member of the Board of Managers, argued that Haverford never has foisted the beliefs nor the creed of the sect by which it was founded upon matriculates in the institution, but at the same time has retained its standing as dean of the Friends' institutions in America since its founding ninety-seven years ago.

"There is a definite place for the sectarian institution," he said, "particularly so since the sectarian institution is rapidly disappearing from the educational system of America."

ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-ONE

years have passed since the birth of ABRAHAM LINCOLN. We are still learning many things from his noble life. Following his example, one thought for 1930 is, "That the way we begin the year is not nearly so important as the way we continue it, and the way we end it."

Library Notes

There really should a plaque set in the wall of the Merion Title and Trust Building, with the inscription "Here was born the Narberth Community Library, January 31, 1921." For it was there that the "Bungalow" stood where the famous eighteen volumes started on their task of multiplying themselves into the institution now housed in the Community Building with an air of always having been there. Even those who worked and schooled themselves to patience during the years of slow growth can hardly realize that only nine years have passed since the beginning.

The steady, healthful development of the library has been due, at least in part, to the fact that it has been truly a community effort, the co-operation of many, not the gift of a few. Since 1925 the owning and governing body has been the Narberth Community Library Association, membership in which is open to anyone on payment of dues of $1 a year, or of $25 for a life membership. It is unfortunate that membership in the association is not more general in the community. Indeed, in 1929 there were less than 150 members in the association, including life members, although there are many times that number of registered borrowers. The library can continue to be a real community activity only if a large proportion of the people share the responsibility of its maintenance and direction.

Measles Leads Diseases

Nineteen new cases of measles and fourteen of mumps head the list of contagious diseases in the report of Health Officer Marvin E. Reynolds for the week ending January 31, 1930. One case of chicken pox, two of whooping cough, and three of scarlet fever complete the list. The cases of scarlet fever are in Ardmore, Merion and Wynnewood.

Not all the news is told in the news columns of this paper—read the advertisements, also.

Noted Explorer to Speak at Bryn Mawr

Harry Whitney to Interpret Big Game Movies at Goodhart Hall.

IS TONIGHT, TOMORROW

Alaskan big game and wild animal life carrying on its daily life in its usual fashion has been caught in a thrilling motion picture taken by Harry Whitney last summer, which will be exhibited and explained by him at 8:30 tonight, and again at 2:30 tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon, at Goodhart Hall, Bryn Mawr College.

Mr. Whitney was in charge of the Whitney Carpenter expedition to Alaska in the summer of 1929, which was sent out primarily to secure specimens of caribou and white mountain sheep, with shrubbery, rocks and grass from the place in which they were secured in order that they might be arranged in habitat groups in the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia.

White sheep, moose, bears, and sea lions in silhouette against the sky, and close-up portraits, fill the pictures. Mr. Whitney shows an artist's perception in the choice of settings and in his lighting effects.

Mr. Whitney is one of Pennsylvania's best known sportsmen. His experiences began when he accompanied Commodore Peary's expedition to the Pole in 1908. The following year with Paul Rainey he returned for big game, and secured the polar bear, "Silver King," which is in the Bronx Zoo. With Captain Bob Bartlett he has made many trips since that time into the far north. He will accompany Captain Bartlett on the famous "Morrissey" to Eastern Greenland in June 1930.

Mr. Whitney is exhibiting these motion pictures for the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters. The use of Goodhart Hall has been the gift of Bryn Mawr College. Tickets may be obtained from the Pennsylvania League, Pennypacker 9245, or at the door before each showing.

Attendance at Borough School Has Been High

The attendance at the Narberth school has averaged over 90 per cent. of the enrollment during January, according to the report of Principal George H. Wilson at the January meeting of the School Board on Friday night. There has not been a trace of any contagious disease among any pupils at the school, the principal's report showed.

It was decided that no new children would be admitted to the kindergarten at the middle of the school year due to the large number now enrolled. Authorization was given by the Board for the purchase of a phonograph to be used in physical education work.

Dr. Tily Named for National C. of C. Post

Cynwyd Man Nominated For Di- rector of Body From District.

Dr. Herbert J. Tily, of Cynwyd, president of Strawbridge & Clothier and one of the outstanding figures in the field of retail distribution, has been nominated for a place as director of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States from this district.

Dr. Tily will be a candidate to succeed Ernest T. Trigg, who, after serving for twelve years on the board of the national body, has declined again to be a candidate for reelection this year. Mr. Trigg, who proposed Dr. Tily as a nominee for the national board, is stepping aside because of the pressure of business incident to the recent merger in which John Lucas & Co., Inc., of which he is president, participated.

Dr. Tily's nomination papers have been signed by Philip H. Gadsden, as president of Chamber of Commerce; Ernest T. Trigg, representing Commercial Museum; Emil P. Albrecht, president, The Bourse; J. S. W. Holton, president, the Maritime Exchange; Philip Godley, president, Board of Trade, and Lewis G. Graff, president, Commercial Exchange.

In addition, Dr. Tily will have the support of a host of other organizations in this city and of members of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, in which he was president, and now a member of the advisory council of ex-presidents.

'Virginian,' by Main Line Novelist, and 'Rio Rita' Come to Cynwyd Theatre

Main Line neighbors of Owen Wister, Bryn Mawr novelist, will have an opportunity next Monday and Tuesday to enjoy "The Virginian," the story of Western outlaws, friendships, love, chivalry, humor and gun-play, which Theodore Roosevelt praised, and which has become a classic. The film, which follows the book's plot fairly closely, will be shown at The Egyptian, Cynwyd, the first of next week. Included in its all-talking cast are Gary Cooper as the Virginian, Mary Brian as his sweetheart from New England, Richard Arlen as their lovable but weak friend, and Walter Huston (of "Gentlemen of the Press" and "The Lady Lies" fame) as Trampas, outlaw extraordinary.

Scheduled for the entire last four days of next week, is "Rio Rita," acclaimed as the best talking screen adaptation of a musical play that has yet been produced. The title role is played by the versatile Bebe Daniels, who surprised the public with her singing voice. John Boles, stage star of "Desert Song" movie fame, gives a pleasing performance as her lover, who is suspected of being a bandit. Comedy is provided liberally by Bert Wheeler, Dorothy Lee and Robert Woolsey.

'Untamed' at the Egyptian

Joan Crawford's latest success, "Untamed," is the Egyptian Theatre's attraction this Friday and Saturday. It is all-talking, and includes in its musical numbers the popular "Chant of the Jungle." A Mickey Mouse comedy is scheduled as an accompanying feature.

The Universal talking news review, with Graham McNamee as announcer-reporter, is to be a regular feature each Friday and Saturday at The Egyptian, according to Manager Joseph Conway.

A former manager of The Egyptian, Jack Eaton, is the producer of the Grantland Rice Pictorials which are shown at the Cynwyd Theatre every other week-end, including this Friday and Saturday.
